John Lach

Dean, School of Engineering and Applied Science

Dear Graduate:

On behalf of the faculty and staff of The George Washington University's School of Engineering and Applied Science (SEAS), I congratulate you on your well-earned academic achievement.

I hope you are as proud of your accomplishment as we—your professors, advisors, and mentors—are. We have watched you learn, grow, broaden your perspectives, and deepen your understanding of engineering and computer science and of the critical roles they play in our increasingly technology-driven world. We are particularly excited to celebrate you and your accomplishments in person this year, together with your family and friends. It took hard work and perseverance for you to be here today, and I hope you look back on your time at SEAS with fondness and appreciation.

As you look forward to your next challenge, I hope you carry with you what you have learned during your time at SEAS. First and foremost, you have studied your discipline in technical depth and acquired an understanding of the ethical practice and societal context of engineering and computer science. You have learned to think creatively about complex topics and to work collaboratively with people across disciplines and from various backgrounds. Your experiences inside and outside the classroom have prepared you to become a valuable member—and leader—of diverse teams solving society's grand challenges.

But the preparation you have acquired here is just the beginning.

I challenge you to go forth from today as a life-long learner, constantly collecting new knowledge, skills, and perspectives to better serve humankind in our ever-changing world. The pandemic—that dynamic and tragic backdrop to our collective lives for over two years—has reminded us of the importance of adaptability and the need to be proactive in preparing for any challenges that may come our way. As engineers and computer scientists, you have special capabilities and responsibilities, and your commitment to continued growth and adaptability will help you make the world a better and more resilient and equitable place for all.

Whether you are now going on to your first full-time job, continuing your career, heading to graduate or professional school, or otherwise following your life path, please stay in touch with us and with your fellow alumni. Remember that the SEAS community extends far beyond campus and will always welcome you. With a worldwide network of alumni and friends, you will find opportunities to connect with, support, and be supported by fellow GW graduates wherever you venture. And individually and together, you will Raise High!

I wish you all the best,

John Lach

Aicha Evans,
Chief Executive Officer, Zoox
BS '96

Aicha Evans joined Zoox as the Chief Executive Officer (CEO) in February 2019. In June 2020, Evans led the acquisition of Zoox by Amazon.

Zoox was founded in 2014 to develop a complete ecosystem for delivering autonomous mobility, from the core autonomous technology and vehicle design to an operating model and revolutionary product experience. Towards that end, Zoox is building a fleet of fully autonomous, battery electric, zero-emission vehicles that are purpose-built and optimized for ridesharing in cities. Based in Foster City, CA, Zoox employees are working to deliver safe, clean, and enjoyable mobility for the planet.

Prior to joining Zoox, Evans served as Senior Vice President and Chief Strategy Officer at Intel Corporation, responsible for driving Intel's long-term strategy to transform from a PC-centric company to a Data-centric company.

Previously, she ran the company's wireless efforts and oversaw a global team of 7,000 engineers. Prior to this she was General Manager of Intel's Communication and Devices Group, responsible for driving the wireless business and engineering for multi-comm products and platforms, including Radio Frequency transceivers (RF), cellular LTE and 5G modems, Wi-Fi, Wi-Gig, GPS, and Bluetooth. She oversaw a 7,000 person global organization. Evans joined Intel in 2006. Prior to Intel, she spent 10 years in various engineering management positions at Rockwell Semiconductors, Conexant and Skyworks.

Evans is a member of the Supervisory Board of SAP and holds a Bachelor's degree in Computer Engineering from The George Washington University.

Dear Graduate,

On behalf of the Office of Alumni Relations, congratulations on your graduation from the School of Engineering and Applied Science, and welcome to the GW alumni community.

Today you are joining a dynamic network of accomplished scholars and professionals. In the coming months, you will be hearing from us regarding engagement opportunities, both in Washington, D.C. and across the globe. We encourage you to remain connected to this network by keeping the alumni office informed of your achievements and up to date on your whereabouts. We also invite you to serve the SEAS and greater GW communities in ways that interest you; for example: encouraging potential students to attend SEAS, mentoring current students, hiring graduating students, participating in on- or off-campus panels, hosting a local event, returning for reunions, or participating in any other way that appeals to you.
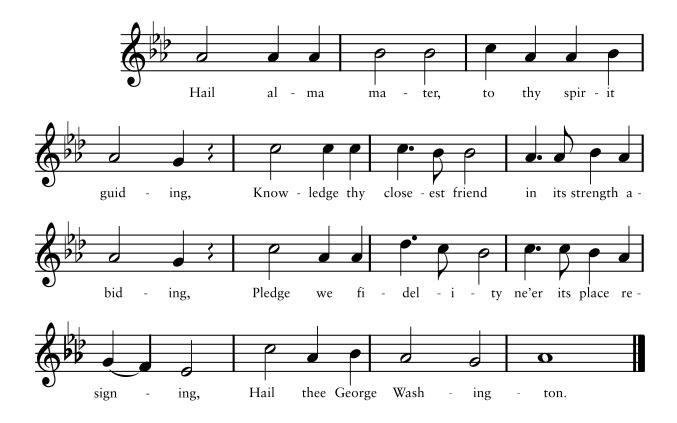

We are always open to gathering your input, too, and encourage you to email us at seasalum@gwu.edu.

Congratulations once again and best wishes!

Sincerely,

GW SEAS Alumni Relations
